ENAO

Founded in 1971, ENAO has represented the profession of Emergency Nursing in the province of Ontario for more than four decades.

ENAO membership is open to Registered Nurses currently employed in, or having a direct interest in Emergency Nursing.

ENAO publishes a professional journal of Emergency Nursing (JENAO) which includes articles and submissions from members and colleagues across Ontario and beyond.

Provincial Emergency Nursing conferences and educational initiatives highlight and support this specialty.

ENAO awards Certified Education Contact Hours (CECH) to qualifying educational events.

ENAO supports the Emergency Nursing specialty certification ENC(C) through the CNA, and ongoing liaisons with all healthcare disciplines.

Benefits of ENAO Membership

ENAO is on the forefront of continuing education and supports the dissemination of acclaimed courses including:

- Trauma Nursing Core Course (TNCC)
- Emergency Nursing Paediatric Course (ENPC)
- Canadian Triage and Acuity Scale (CTAS)

ENAO members participate in the shaping of decisions that affect future changes in the delivery of Emergency healthcare; e-CTAS, Ontario Concussion Guidelines, etc.

ENAO members enjoy financial discounts on provincial and national conferences, endorsed courses and educational events.

ENAO membership includes National Emergency Nurses Association membership.

ENAO is a provincial resource for current best practice guidelines, research developments and represents the interests of Emergency Nurses by providing a unified voice.

ENAO facilitates the establishment of long-term relationships through networking opportunities.

ENAO and NENA Standards of Practice, Position Statements, Core Competencies and all publications are available complimentary to members.
